Your BlockFi Loan is in Default: Collateral Eligible for Sale.

John,

The value of your collateral has dropped since we last notified you. As a result, your loan-to-value (LTV) ratio has risen to 80% or higher.

In accordance with your Loan and Security Agreement, your loan is now in Default. Here's what that means:

BlockFi reserves the right to initiate a sale of your collateral to restore your LTV to a healthy level. The trading team is actively liquidating positions for loans that have failed to meet their margin calls. If your collateral has already been liquidated, the details of the sale will be made available to you within the next 12-24 business hours as the trading team allocates trades. Your Dashboard will be updated accordingly.

We strongly recommend that you deposit additional collateral as soon as possible to help prevent further liquidations if prices continue to drop.

We're here to help. Please reach out: call us at 646-779-9688 or send us an email at support@blockfi.com and let us know if you have any questions or concerns.

Loan Id: 558207a5

Thanks,
The BlockFi Team
